

The Language of Dacwen

---

Tanarull: Weapon. Given to Horans, Kalturos, and female members of the royal family. Surgically implanted into the forearms and controlled with a neural interface. The binding process is said to be painful and how visible a tanarul is on the wearers skin indicates how strong the neural connection is with the device.

Naroven: King

Narozen: Queen

Narosel: Princess

Narovel: Prince

Horan: An elite unit whose task is to guard the dimensional doorways located on Planet Earth.

Kalturo: They are the personal guard of the royal family.

Jhev-nen: A scared message granted by unknown beings that reset the locks for the doorways to keep them secure.

Varux: The original capital city of Dacwen. Now a barren lifeless place due to the great war.

CUSAMANIE: Curse word. Unable to determine if English equivalent is shit or fuck.

Kast Aeo: Carry it. – from what we can determine, this word is not used in day to day language but only on special occasion while speaking to some entity.

Mahnendae: Take them – same as the word above, used only when speaking to an entity, as if making a request during a ritual.

**This SVT Securities file is in the process of being updated with additional information as we learn more about the planet Dacwen and her people.